OCTOBER 2026

Dear co-laborers,

It is a blessing to be in partnership with Rev. István Vigh and his family in Szék, Romania as the ministry continues to grow. They are deeply committed to reaching Transylvania for Christ, and I have personally witnessed the Lord working through their labors. All year long they labor together through programs and outreaches to grow the Kingdom of Christ.

Summer Bible Camp was held July 16–18, 2026, at the cultural center in the village. More than 100 children attended, and the theme was Psalm 23—The Good Shepherd. I taught the teenagers and helped with various other aspects of the camp, while Emőke took the lead. Long times friends Rev. Sándor and Gabriella Tókos came from Barót, Romania, to assist. Other family members and friends aided in the work. Everyone played their part. The children learned Bible songs, played games, and make crafts. The only difficulty arose on the night of the campfire, when pouring rain forced us to move the program indoors. In my opinion, the change of venue made the program even better. The campfire was held the following week. In addition to helping with the camp, I preached on both Sundays in Szék.

Weekly Bible studies and services continue in Szamosújvár, where we rent a meeting place for $200 per month. The location is a blessing. They are meager quarters by American standards, but they are large enough for new church to be planted and grow. I was able to lead one service there during my visit. The group is growing slowly, and we pray that one day it will become a congregation of its own.

The finances have improved; however, there is still a need for more donors. Their need is only $1200 per month. This covers a meager amount of support for Rev. István and the rent in Szamosújvár. It does not cover any additional ministry expenses. The Vigh's work hard to make resources stretch. They keep bees which provide them with delicious honey to sell. István won a silver metal recently for his honey stating, "The bees are capable of miracles!" They also make the flower arrangements for the funerals in the village. They raise funds to help others in times of need. They are a busy family

We need to pray for the future of the ministry in Szék. At some point István will not be able to continue his work. We must pray that faithful laborers will be raised to continue the work. A solid foundation has been built through many years of Gospel labors. We await to see what God will build on this foundation, knowing that the real foundation is Christ Jesus our Lord.

To God Be the Glory,
